

You Could Be President Someday

When kids participate in their school elections or community activities, they inspire us to be good citizens by using the ultimate power of our voice and vote!